Clicking Classes at the top of the screen displays the class in its entirety. Students enrolled in the class show down the left column of the window and the curriculum assigned shows up along the top row. Student scores as they work through the curriculum will be displayed automatically here in the Gradebook. This view also allows you to edit student scores. Clicking in any of the cells under a curriculum item gives you a box that looks like this:

The student's name and the assignment name show as a reminder in a balloon above the scoring field. Entering a score in this box changes the score for the student. The system reminds you that "This score will replace all system scores for this assignment. Are you sure you want to do this?"
